First outdoor graduation planned

Commencement exercises are scheduled outdoors for the first time this year at Maxwell Field, June 10, at 10:30 a.m.

President Nels Minne will preside over the program and Reverend Harold Rekstad from The First Congregational Church in Winona will deliver the invocation.

THE COMMENCEMENT address will be given by Minnesota Congressman, John Blatnik.

Congressman Blatnik, a native of Chisholm, taught school for a time after graduation from Winona State in 1935. In 1940, at age 29, he was elected to the Minnesota State Senate, the youngest man ever elected to that post, as of that time. When his term expired two years later he had enlisted in the Army Air Corps but he was elected.

His service included eight months behind the enemy lines in Yugoslavia and he was awarded numerous medals.

IN 1946 BLATNIK was elected to the 80th Congress from the 8th District as the Democratic-Farmer-Labor candidate, and since then has been elected every two years and by ever-increasing margins.

Others on the program are Dr. M. R. Raymond, Dean of Winona State, making the presentation of Classes, Mr. Robert Clayton, making the Alumni Society Presentation, Dr. Lyman Judson, making the Parents' Association Presentation, and Michael Kirsche, Senior Class President, making the Class Gift Presentation.

Delta Zeta Sorority, Alpha Xi Delta Sorority, and Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity will usher the program.

THE CONCERT and Class Day Program, replacing Baccalaureate, is scheduled this coming Sunday at Somsen Hall at 4:00 p.m.

President Minne will preside over the Class Day Program with Miss Agnes Bard, music department, playing the Processional and Recessional.

Others in the program are Douglas Rosenow, Salutatorian, Michael Kirsche, President of the Senior Class, and Jonelle Millam, valedictorian.

ELIZABETH Gunhus, soloist, will sing Psalm 103, arranged by G. O'Conner-Morris, with Jonelle Millam as an accompanist.

Richard McCluer, music department, will direct the Winona State College Concert Band playing "Magnificat" and "Credo."

Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity will usher the program.

Senate, administration meet held

Campus problems were the target of discussion at the Student Senate-Administration Meeting held May 26; the meeting resulted from the questionnaire student opinion poll sponsored by the Senate May 23 and 24.

The purpose of the poll was to obtain from the students a general indication of what they thought student problems are. The following is a Student Senate report concerning the poll.

"THE STUDENTS through the opinion poll designated a number of problem areas. Consequently the Student Senate set up a forum with members of the administration and faculty to discuss these areas. Areas covered were: curriculum, discipline, faculty advising, registration, housing, student activity funds, bookstore, health service, academic atmosphere, and campus communications.

"Some points that were brought up were:

"With increasing enrollment, registration is a complex problem for the administration. The administration is interested in resolving this problem and is working on it. Suggestions are invited. The bookstore is run as a part of the student activity fund, as a nonprofit organization. Prices are those generally adopted by a majority of college bookstores. Any revenue that might occur is spent for the student body's benefit. Further study will continue.

"CONCERNING additional majors, they are allowed only if there is a way to support them through money and staff. This requires a substantial number of students in an area, the approval of the state college board, and the necessary finances from the legislature. This past year three majors have been added to the curriculum.

"It was stated that more student participation on committees is desirable and that more students should be involved at the policy-making level. The Student Senate noted this point and made the resolution calling for the reorganization of certain policy making committees (this resolution follows this report in the minutes).

"These examples are some of the areas that the SS received insight into. These areas of concern are some that the Senate can do something about in cooperation with the faculty and administration. The Senate will set up committees to study the problems and to propose solutions.

"WE HOPE to have more forums in the future to further facilitate cooperation between the senate, the faculty and the administration. The senate asks the students to bring their problems to the senate so that it might work on them."

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO LIVE ON THE 14TH FLOOR? . . . This is an architect's sketch of the proposed 14-story residence hall, for which land is now being cleared. Existing buildings are in the background, with Kryzsko Commons and College Center in front. Dr. Nels Minne said that bids will be asked early next month and construction should begin late in July. Completion is planned for September 1967. Available funds total about $1.3 million. It will be a 400-bed residence hall.

Poll controversy discussed

"I feel the opinion poll had a tremendous influence on bringing about the dialogue between the administration, faculty and students." THESE WERE the words spoken by Student Senate president Louis Kanavati in reference to the recently conducted Student Senate-Administration meeting at which results of the recent opinion poll were discussed.

A COMMITTEE appointed by the Student Senate wrote student and faculty opinion polls and 635 students responded May 23 and 24 when the poll was held.

The Senate report of the Senate-Administration meeting is printed in a story on page one of this issue of the Winonan.

For the May 26 issue the Winonan felt that since the poll had been issued by the Student Senate, the percentage results would not be published until the Senate evaluated them and released their evaluation.

"RESULTS of the poll are not being published this issue as the Senate felt statistical results were not concrete as a result of the questions not being scientifically orientated. However, much information was and will be taken from the poll," according to John Ross, Senator-at-large.

It should definitely be noted that although polling the students and faculty for their opinions is an excellent idea, persons familiar with conducting surveys found the poll to be deficient in several respects.

First of all the questions were poorly and ambiguously phrased second there was an unavailability of sufficient responses in that those polled were forced to say "yes" or "no" and there was no in-between answer. Third, there was no sample control.

WHILE THE entire faculty and students were invited to vote, only 15% of faculty and 25% of the students voted. This is not a great enough number to say this was the overall opinion of the student and faculty bodies.

Elmo Roper in Saturday Review stated, "Self-Government existed when the majority of ALL the public had for its objectives the things that the most enlightened and fair-minded and disinterested people would approve."

"I also expressed the view that the average citizen was both more intelligent and less informed than was commonly thought, and that the first duty of the polls was to explore the ideas of public ignorance so that leaders could know when to disregard uninformed majority opinion, and educators could know better the direction in which their jobs lie."

Student interest picks up

Student body participation and interest may finally be picking up. The recent polls that have been circulating indicate that persons disatisfied with the situation are trying to do something about it, instead of just grumbling about the situation.

It is unfortunate in some respects that this raise of student enthusiasm did not come sooner in the year so that we could reap the benefits of its rise over a longer period of time. For now, with finals and summer vacation, most of the student body will head for home or work. Let us hope that they do not leave the enthusiasm that has developed this spring at home or at work when they return to college next fall.

So until June 10, study like a dog. Congratulations to the graduating seniors and happy job hunting. For the underclassman, this summer take it easy, make a pile of money, have loads of fun, and come back fired up.

WRHC affects changes

Recently, the Dorm Senator conducted a survey designed to articulate the needs of the students residing on the campus of Winona State. Mineographed sheets were distributed to students living in Conway, Richards, and Shepherd (Second floor only.) Halls.

These sheets requested the writer's name, and suggestions for improving housing and/or the food service. Robert Grim, dormitory senator, noted that the response was very good, that many suggestions were made, but few were returned with the author's name.

Suggestions ranged from: fewer room checks in the women's dorms, to a provision calling for 3 "lates" a quarter, to the statement that "all demerits be erased at the end of each quarter," to provisions for more "open houses" in the school year.

More common suggestions were: pay-in-proportion-to-what-you-eat meal tickets, coin changes in the dormitories, allotment of two sheets rather than one each week, and though most of the persons polled agreed that "the R.A.'s have good rules," many suggested that "they practice enforcing their rules."

Mrs. Statler noted that the Women's Residence Hall Council met in March, and set up a unified room check for all women. At their April meeting, they proposed "three lates" for the freshmen women for next year. Mrs. Statler also stated the late-minute demerits have always been erased at the end of each quarter, and that complete abolishment of the demerit system has been considered. She also mentioned that the proposal for more open house dates will be brought up before the dormitory councils next year.

Letters to editor

Activity fund a-ok chairman states

To the Editor:

Two weeks ago, an editorial in The Winonan expressed some concern over the dispensing of the student activity account. As chairman of the joint student-faculty finance committee, I feel that a reply is in order.

I quote from SCB 47 of the current State College Board regulations:

(a) administration. The administration of the Student Activity Account shall be under the direction of the college president who shall be guided in his decisions by the recommendations of a joint student-faculty committee established for this purpose. Plans for the administration and control of the Student Activity Account shall be submitted to the Board for approval. Such plans shall give to the proper student authorities an equal voice with the faculty in determining the use of the funds subject to the approval of the president.

I SHOULD LIKE to invite attention, as did the editorial, to the fact that the joint committee is composed of four students, the Student Body Treasurer elected by the students, who in turn appoints the other three student members; and four faculty members appointed by the Faculty Senate; I am the fifth faculty member, and am appointed by the president, but have no vote except in cases of a tie — and for the 12-14 years I have been chairman, I am unable to recall having to exercise my right of tie-breaking.

Thus as you can see, we comply with board regulations which are the same for all Minnesota State Colleges. The regulations can be changed only by the Board itself.

Respectfully,
Ralph A. Behling
Chm., Finance Comm.

Are all senators fulfilling duties?

To The Editor:

Jim Evenson seems to be running the Student Senate as evidenced in the May 26 issue of The Winonan.

In the Student Senate minutes his name appeared twelve times. COULD IT BE that Mr. Evenson is the only active senator and runs the show?

Or, knowing that the SS minutes will be published, does he just make or second a motion in order that his name will appear in print?

Or, does he enjoy using his name as filler for his page — the editorial page of The Winonan?

OR, IS HE truly interested in the welfare of the Student Senate and feels compelled to voice his opinions since other senators merely sit back and neglect their responsibilities?

Junior

May 31, 1966

A regular meeting of the Student Senate was called to order by the president, Louie Kanavati, on May 31, 1966 at 6:50 p.m.

Roll was called. The minutes were approved as mailed.

New class officers were introduced. Senior Class officers are Dick Childers, president, Ron Luloff, vice-president, Sharon So-braske, secretary, and Hank Kleis, treasurer. Sophomore class officers are Paul Johnson, president, Tim Dalton, vice-president, Cheryl Miller, secretary, and Sandy Bettcher, treasurer.

Roni Pellowski reported that the Chaperone Committee has four suggestions to help solve the problem. Next fall the committee will send letters to all clubs giving suggestions for the treatment of chaperones, notes will be sent to all faculty members, suggestions will be placed in the student organizational handbook, and the social committee will remind all clubs sponsoring social events to extend these courtesies to chaperones. Suggested rules for chaperones are:

1. The organization should ask a minimum of three to four chaperones.

2. A list of chaperones should be kept by the social committee chairman. This is to avoid asking chaperones repeatedly.

3. When unmarried women are asked to chaperone, it would be courteous to ask two.

4. Advisors to the organizations would be preferable as chaperones.

5. Winona State alumni and townspeople may be asked to chaperone as long as one faculty couple is present.

6. Invitations should be extended at least two weeks in advance of the social event. The facts should be clear as to the date, time, and whether acceptance is definite.

7. Chaperones should remain there for the entire function. However, if one has an adequate number of chaperones, it is possible to work in shifts.

8. Representatives of the organization or groups are jointly responsible with the chaperones.

10. There should be a place provided for the chaperones to be comfortable.

11. Encourage your members to introduce themselves and their dates.

12. Have various members available for conversation.

13. Above all, don't forget to thank the chaperones for giving of their time and taking on the added responsibilities of chaperoning.

14. If necessary, chaperones should be provided with transportation.

Miss Magnus gives talk at initiation

Guest speaker at the formal initiation banquet of the National Thespian chapter of suburban Mound High School, west of Minneapolis, on May 26, was Miss Dorothy B. Magnus, professor of speech and director of theatre at WSC.

Her subject was THE INTERNATIONAL DRAMA FESTIVALS OF EUROPE AND THE MIDDLE EAST which she attended during a study-tour last summer. The banquet was held at the Old Log Theatre restaurant in suburban Excelsior and was followed by a theatre party. The group saw THE ABSENCE OF A CELLO, the Old Log's current play.

ON MAY 27, MISS Magnus presented a slide-lecture on her experiences at the international drama festivals to students and faculty of Mound Senior High School.

Alumni news

A meeting of the Board of Directors was held at WSC Wednesday, May 11. At the meeting, a brief history of the Distinguished Alumni Service Award was given by Miss Bartsch.

It was moved and passed that Dr. Louis Hoover be awarded the Distinguished Service Citation at the Annual Meeting.

MRS. JACOB C. ENGEL, formerly Nee E. L. Anding, who graduated in 1918 from Winona State College, passed away on May 7, 1966.

Lund heads flag raising ceremony

BECAUSE THERE ARE a few students who burn their draft cards and otherwise make the headlines, several students have undertaken a project to show their loyalty to our federal system, and the freedoms which it represents.

They are showing their loyalty by holding a small flag raising and lowering service by the flag poles in front of Somsen Hall every morning and evening.

As Gene Lund, who initiated the flag ceremonies said: "I believe that most college students do respect our flag and the society which it represents; and I feel that I can help to express my loyalty by taking part in this ceremony."

Alumna discusses prejudice experienced by her race

"It isn't easy to be proud of what you are if you meet with prejudice." That's Ramona Childs talking. She's a 1962 graduate of WSC and she knows about prejudice first hand: She's an Indian.

The Indian, like the Negro, had to face the color barrier, she said, but that's just one of the problems her race faces.

She wants to help.

Ramona doesn't carry banners or start protest marches; instead, she seeks to cultivate understanding between the separate communities of Indian and non-Indian.

RAMONA BELIEVES that education is the most important tool for building understanding. Education of Indians, certainly, but education of non-Indians as well, for they must be educated to the Indian's problems.

"The time was," Ramona observed, "when we seemed to feel that if we just left them alone, racial extinction would solve the problem for us. But the American Indian is not becoming extinct. For example, in ten years, the Navaho Indians alone have increased by 90-100,000. And these children will have a bicultural gap to bridge."

Most Indians live in conditions of poverty, she notes, and those who leave for industrial areas are totally unprepared in any skill.

"Our race has a 90% school drop out rate," she commented, "yet, education is essential for the Indian. He must be taught to think for himself. He must be taught skills that will help him make a living. But most important, he must be taught about his own heritage."

RAMONA BELIEVES that to develop a "good, solid, healthy ego" anyone must know who he is. "We have been told to forget that we are Indians. How can we do that? Why should we do that? After all, we are Indians. And, in order to build anything there must first be a foundation. Since the foundation for the future is the present, and the foundation for the present is the past, we must learn about our past. We must accept our past."

Here's how Ramona goes about it: She's a full-time physical education teacher in a Minneapolis public school, but she's busy in the summer as director of a day camp for Chippewa Indian children. The camp has three goals: Fun; To help campers build a good self-concept; To bridge the gap between Indian and non-Indian cultures.

The children are taught the arts and crafts of their forebears. They learn some of the Chippewa language, tribal dances, bead work and tribal lore. These are designed to help develop pride in the youngster's race and to create a better image of themselves.

Scanlon presents fraternity charter

The Pi Psi Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, was installed on the Winona State College campus.

Joseph Scanlon, national executive director of APO, presented the charter during the installation service at Central Methodist Church. Dean Raymond representing President Minne, accepted the charter.

INSTALLATION of the chapter officers was made by members of the La Crosse State College chapter. Jim Vigness was installed as the Pi Psi president.

Joseph Scanlon, the guest speaker, talked on "Our Fraternity" and challenged the new chapter with the ideals of the APO: friendship, leadership, and service. He stated that service was the main concern of the fraternity and that if only the other programs were followed, the purpose of APO was not being carried out.

Congratulations to the seniors who are graduating. To the rest of you . . . see you next fall. To all . . . an exciting vacation.

Warriors win district title, fall in region

CHAMPS! . . . These are the Warrior baseball team members who compiled an 18-11 record while winning the NIC crown, captured the NAIA district 13 title, and finished third in region four competition.

S.S. president gives opinion

WE HAVE A GREAT bunch of kids here at Winona State College. Everybody around here is really nice, but I wonder if being too nice tends to slow down a student body.

A few weeks ago, six student senators and advisors traveled to Dickinson, North Dakota, for a Tri-State Student Government Convention. I really won't want to go into lengthy detail and state everything we learned, but I would like to mention one thing which impressed me more than anything else.

Generally speaking, most of the other student senates of other colleges were quite similar, with some having a little more aggressiveness than others. This is where I felt the WSC Student Senate was lacking. Then I asked myself, why are we like this? Why does the Student Senate at Winona State lack aggressiveness? After comparing the personnel of our senate to the personnel of other senates, I felt that our senators were just as capable, if not more so, than senators of other schools.

This is what really impressed me. I didn't find my answer to why we are lacking aggressiveness until last week, when three students came to the Student Senate meeting and wanted the Student Senate to take action on a certain issue, and they did. This made the Student Senate look important and aggressive, but was it really the Student Senate that was important and aggressive, or was it the three students who agitated action through the Student Senate?

WHAT I'M TRYING to say is this: at Winona State College, the student body feels that the Student Senate is there to make all our decisions, take action when they are supposed to, and entertain the student body at all times to make them happy!

Well, all I can say is that the student body cannot remain passive much longer, you must wake up! The Student Senate is only going to be as active as the student body makes them. Members of the Student Senate are only human. They are in charge of taking care of student problems, but if they see no problems or no one pushes them to find problems, as far as they're concerned, there aren't any.

The student body must begin to motivate the Student Senate. You must confide your problems with the Student Senate, in order to get action.

JUST TO SHOW you how interested our student body is, 85 of 400 juniors turned out for senior class elections. 150 of 700 freshmen turned out for the sophomore class elections. These results stink! We might as well drop these elections — actually they are worthless! For the school wide opinion poll taken for 2 days at 2 booths, only 25% of the student body was interested in stating what they felt were problems on campus. Yet the student body continues to complain and criticize.

For next year, I'd hate to have the Student Senate try and shove action down the throats of our student body, but if the student body doesn't wake up pretty soon, this is all the Student Senate may try to do.

District

Roepke gave up the lone St. Thomas run in the first inning, and then the Warriors exploded for four in the eighth inning to sew up the game. Pat Boland had doubled with bases loaded to give Winona State its first two runs, then, with one out, Roepke walked to force in the third run, Al Conner squeezed a perfect squeeze bunt to score the last of Winona State's four runs.

Grob named new coach as Dr. McCown steps down

Dr. Luther McCown, head baseball coach for twelve years at Winona State, has stepped down as head coach, and will be replaced by assistant coach, Gary Grob.

McCown coached teams have compiled a 271-127 record while winning the NIC crown eight times. They also have made four trips to the Region Four NAIA tournament, and twice went on to the nationals and placed fourth. McCown has been named Minnesota coach of the year four times, NAIA District 13 coach of the year four times, and Region Four coach of the year twice.

GROB, NAMED to succeed McCown, played first base under McCown for four years, compiling a .354 batting average. He also coached the Caledonia amateur baseball team for four seasons, compiling a 80-18 record.

"I know I'm filling a good-sized pair of shoes," said Grob. "If I can come anywhere close to what Mac (McCown) has done as a coach, it will be quite a distinction."

McCown will remain in the Winona State athletic department as chairman of the health and physical education department.

Region

Iowa Wesleyan proved the culprit as they downed Winona State's baseball team twice in the double elimination tournament to oust Winona in the Region Four tournament.

Iowa Wesleyan scored single runs in the first, third and seventh innings to down the Warriors 3-2. Winona scored in the first and ninth innings, but couldn't get the needed hits as several men were stranded in scoring position. Roepke, still tired from the St. Thomas game, took the loss for the Statesmen, although Isbell came in to relieve him at the start of the seventh inning.

MISSOURI Valley downed Superior, Wis., State to provide Winona with their second round foe. They also defeated Iowa Wesleyan who faced Winona in the third game, and were the team to stop.

In the second game, against Superior, Barnette went the distance for the Warriors, giving up a run in the first inning, and then shutting them out the rest of the way. Winona garnered 10 hits, all singles, as they ran up nine runs, holding a 3-1 lead after three innings.

In the nightcap, Winona took a 4-2 lead after four innings, but seven errors, and two four run innings for Iowa Wesleyan proved too much, as Winona fell, 13-7.

WINONA WRAPPED up its season with an 18-11 record.
